

OVER FOUR HUNDRED STATE TEACHERS NOW RECEIVING PENSIONS

Fifty More Applications Received and Pensions Will be Started January 1

ANNUITY BOARD HAS MILLION INVESTED IN FARM MORTGAGES

More Available for Investment With Farmers Says Secretary

MADISON, Wis.—More than 450 former Wisconsin school teachers are now receiving pensions under the state retirement pension system according to figures presented by R. E. Loveland, secretary of the state annuity board.

The change in the law which cuts off previous service in figuring pensions has resulted in smaller amounts going to teachers who died during the year. Death benefits paid during the year were all under $1,000.

About 50 teachers applied for retirement last June and these pensions will be paid starting Jan. 1. The highest pension being paid is about $160 a month while payments range down to $132 a month.

Teachers pay five percent of their salaries into the pension fund and the state adds more than an equal amount. After 25 years of teaching and at the age of 50 the teacher is paid the full pension although she can draw out the money paid in whenever she quits the teaching profession. The size of pensions paid on death will increase as the amount in the fund that has been paid into the fund. Figures on the pension system will be presented to the state teachers' convention at Milwaukee next week.

Has Million Invested
The annuity board of the state teachers' retirement system has a million dollars invested in farm mortgages of Wisconsin and is advertising for further similar investments.

The board now has a total of about $3,000,000 and is anxious to place as much as possible of this money in the hands of farmers needing loans, according to R. E. Loveland, secretary of the board.

Mr. Loveland explained on Wednesday that money as it comes in is invested in liquid assets where it is held until needed to satisfy the demand for farm loans.

A statement telling of the advantages of using the state's money for farm financing will be presented at the annual meetings of all county boards of Wisconsin.

LEVITAN CALLS UPON JEWS NOT TO FORGET TRADITIONS OF RACE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Jews as they enter the melting pot of the United States should not forget their own traditions but in merging should contribute their own high ideals. Solomon Levitan, state treasurer of Wisconsin, declared in lectures before members of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith at Minneapolis and later before a similar order at St. Paul.

"We, in common with other peoples who have come to this country, have thrown ourselves into the melting pot forgetting all that was good in the old, forgetting that we had something to give to the new, turning our backs on the traditions and ideals we had brought with us, striving to merge ourselves with the life of the new land," he declared.

CHICAGO FIRMS DONATE TO FUND FOR GERMAN AID

Movement to Raise Money to Feed Children Meets With Generous Response

CHICAGO, Ill.—The movement to raise funds for use in feeding needy German children during the coming winter, sponsored by the American Society of Friends (Quakers), received an impetus today with announcement that Chicagoans had already subscribed $120,000.

Pledges for this amount were announced after the first meeting arranged for Major General Henry T. Allen, former commander of the United States army of occupation in Germany, who is directing the drive for funds.

He pointed out the need for feeding two million German children daily during the coming winter months.

The first subscription to the fund was made by Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck and Company, who gave $100,000. Two donations of $10,000 each were added by R. A. Cudahy, packer, and R. A. Eckhart, president of Eckhart Milling company.

SPARTA CONDENSARY IS BUILDING A LARGE RESERVOIR FOR PLANT

Adequate Water Supply to be Assured Danish Pride Concern Shortly

SPARTA, Wis.—Many improvements are being made at the condensary plant in this city. Work has begun on an excavation for a large reservoir at the milk condensary plant of the Danish Pride Milk company. The reservoir is to be located on the east side of the plant and will be 30x75 feet, five feet deep, into which the four flowing wells at the plant will be trained to flow continually.

The water supply for the plant will then be pumped from this reservoir by the three large pumps now connected with the flowing wells. The plant uses a very large amount of water, and when the greatest quantity is being used, it is a hard strain on the wells. The company plans to double the capacity of the Sparta plant, as soon as an addition can be erected on the south end of the present building, for warehouse purposes. This will be longer than the plant now in use.

Mr. Fredericksen, manager of the local plant, said the company hoped to get the excavating done yet this fall for the new addition, but it will depend largely on weather conditions.

whether or not this can be accomplished. The plant has handled 80,000 pounds of milk daily during the summer months, and the present amount taken in is around 51,000 pounds daily.

Exciting

DISCOVERY of two skeletons with exceedingly ape-like skulls near Santa Barbara, Cal., has raised a relatively wild excitement among geologists, anthropologists and other men of science interested in the development of mankind. Their excitement is understandable when it is understood that if the age and character of these remains as claimed by their discoverer, J. P. Harrington, is finally verified and assured, existing theories as to pre-historic man on this continent will be completely upset. Heretofore it has been the theory of science that men were comparatively late arrivals among the animal life of North America. They are presumed to have come to the New World in relatively recent times, coming across the Pacific from some center of dispersion in Asia. They were already upon their arrival, so the theory runs, in the late stone age of human development, with a primitive civilization and organization well developed.

All this has been based on the failure to discover in America, hitherto, any remains of primitive man comparable to the Heidelberg, Neanderthal, Javanese and other relics found in Europe and in Asia. Science deduced from the blank record of the rocks on this continent, that there was no human or sub-human life to find a place in the record. But the Santa Barbara discovery, if accepted by scientists, knocks this reasoning into a cocked hat. It leads toward the conclusion that sub-men were developing in America along the same lines and at about the same time as in Europe or Asia. It may, perhaps, change all existing notions about the ancestry of the American Indian, hitherto supposed to be an offshoot and development of the Asiatic Mongolian type.

Incidentally, if newspaper accounts are trustworthy, the discoverer of the Santa Barbara skulls has found remains of a type of man hitherto unknown, a type much closer to the ape from which Darwinians believe man to have developed than any hitherto known, except possibly Pithecanthropus, the ape-man of Java. The skulls lack foreheads almost entirely, and have great ridges above the eyes, both ape characteristics much modified in all distinctly human skeletons. Yet the human quality of the remains is reported to be attested by the discovery of stone hatchets and spears beside the skeletons.

The discovery may or may not prove as important as it now appears. But if it stands the tests of scientific determination of its age it will not only wreck previous theories as to human life in North America, but will serve as an inspiration to greater activity among geologists and anthropologists. It will carry the exciting message that investigation on this continent has so far missed vast chapters of geologic history of incalculable importance, which may be uncovered by diligence and skill.

Old Dan's Defi

DAN O'LEARY, the famous long-distance walker, is 82 years old but he challenges all comers, regardless of age, to walk 500 miles for a side bet of $1000 to $5000. Dan's certainly ambitious for his years. He has, of course, lived the life of a professional athlete, nevertheless his excellent condition in old age proves that most of us allow ourselves to become prematurely old by not keeping our bodies in proper physical training. At 82, the average man dreads walking farther than the corner.

O'Leary's greatest stunt, years ago, was walking 1000 miles in 1000 hours. Doctors had claimed that such a feat was impossible, that no human body could stand the strain. Dan did it because he had the "nothing is impossible" attitude. So have all people who accomplish great things. Our mental attitude toward an obstacle, when we fear it, is apt to hold us back more than the obstacle itself.

All told, Dan O'Leary has walked more than 125,000 miles in contests. And 26,000 of these miles have been covered since 1908 when he passed his sixty-seventh birthday. You will travel a long way to find a more interesting character or one furnishing more food for thought. Old age comes to all of us, nearly always sooner than it should. We cannot all be Dan O'Learys. But we can keep our bodies in good physical trim by getting plenty of outside exercise and fresh air and living sanely. That is the only Fountain of Youth—sensible living.

Why Not?

CONGRESSMAN Frear returns from Russia believing, after his tour of Russia under Bolshevik auspices, that the Russian government is the most stable in Europe—or so he is reported to have said. Part of this may be due to the influence of the Bolsheviks who were his hosts, who supervised what he saw and whom he met and talked with. But the fact is that a large part of it is true. No other government in Europe has taken such elaborate precautions to entrench itself in power by disposing of all who disagreed with it. There is no "tcheka" in England, France or Germany, in Poland or Czechoslovakia, to catch the slightest whisper of criticism and slam the whisperer against a stone wall. There is a healthy and vociferous opposition to every government in Europe—except the Russian. In Russia opposition dares not raise its head or its voice. Russia set the dictatorship style which other European countries are attempting to follow, and it is only more stable because its dictatorship has had several years longer to get itself established and to pick off the objectors. Mr. Frear is right—but stability alone, particularly on the Russian model, is a poor recommendation of a government to the American democracy.

Comeback

IN her note declaring she will not recognize the Rhenish republic which is endeavoring to establish itself under the Franco-Belgian aegis Great Britain raises a point which will probably make the French squirm. The point is that a separate republic in the Rhineland is not contemplated by the treaty of Versailles, and therefore is outside the scope of British approval, the British being pledged to the treaty. The reason this will probably find a sore spot in France is that France has been declaring herself ready to live or die with the treaty exactly as written, making this strict construction the basis of all her policy in the Ruhr and in her relations with Germany at large. The fact of the matter is that each nation is strong for those portions of the treaty which seem to protect and foster its interests, and willing to forget those portions which seem to be obstacles to its policies.

Barbara At the Washboard

By JANE OSBORN

When Barbara Deems left college for her first summer vacation as a student she blithely remarked that she was going to earn her next winter's expenses during the three months she had before her. She had used most of a very meager legacy to defray the expenses of her first year, confident that after she could announce to the world that she was a college student she would have no difficulty in getting work.

She had heard of dreamed of, of students who amassed as much as five or six thousand dollars in a summer vacation. The world seemed to be waiting for students to accept positions as traveling governesses for motherless millionaires' daughters, hostesses for popular summer hotels, social workers for factories and hospitals, organizing secretaries for business magazines, and so on as long as the dream lasted.

She went first to the home of her mother's cousin—which was as much of a home as she could boast—three days mending and repairing her scanty wardrobe and incidentally deciding on what she would do.

From her cousin's suburban cottage she made an attack on the big city thirty miles away, went to an agent for two and a half weeks, and then there were no jobs of the sort she had dreamed of for young undergraduates, but the money could not be got through the agencies.

The next day was Sunday, and before the members of her cousin's household had time to get up, Barbara had spent the better part of a dollar on various and sundry Sunday papers. All have to spend two or three days mending and repairing her scanty wardrobe and incidentally deciding on what she would do.

Realization dawned gradually but conclusively that even the most advertising agencies offered no openings of the sort she wanted. Traveling governesses were not often wanted, but when they were they must be French or English or experienced travelers or something else that Barbara was not.

Barbara spent the next day, Monday, trying down some wild ideas and then came definitely to the conclusion that the only sort of job she could take with the hope of earning the money she needed was a washboard.

The picture on the package consisted of a charming lady playing the piano, while a tiny duchess and a clock pointed to 10 o'clock.

Barbara started on her selling pilgrimage at once, and in the first hour she had secured a number of orders for the washboard.

The first day she made enough to pay for her board and a night's lodging at an out-of-the-way farmhouse. Better luck came the next day—she managed to secure a number of orders for the washboard.

OUT OUR WAY

washing for a day she could talk nervously to women who did it every day.

"There's no two days' work any way," went on the young man. By this time they were in the bright light of the kitchen, and apparently he saw Barbara's face and slight young body for the first time.

"But you don't do washing," he exclaimed. "That is—are you sure you won't find it too difficult?"

"No more difficult than some other things," said Barbara with a little laugh, and decided that whoever the young man was he was very attractive.

Barbara washed all the morning, and when the young man and his brother appeared in the kitchen adjoining the laundry, she was at it and washing up some dishes. She asked whether she couldn't stop washing long enough to get dinner for them. It seemed to her if cooking would be a blessed relief from the hard work at the washboard.

Of course they agreed, and it was while she was busy making butter for them that they asked her what they should call her.

"Just Barbara," she said, not wishing to give her last name and being too impatient in the art of dissimulating to think of giving a name and her address.

"Your name is Davenport," said the young man who had opened the door for her in the morning. "They call me Fred and my older brother is Davenport. You see, we took this place for the summer. We both had some writing to do and we had already agreed to make a week for us and then didn't like the village. There weren't enough movies and she didn't like the kind of butter we had—or something of that sort."

It was after the two Mr. Davenport had consumed the last of Barbara's corn fritters and drunk the amber clear soda she had made for them that they asked her rather timidly if she would consider taking the position as cook and laundress for the summer.

"We had to give that other woman $20 a month to come out here, and I guess the place is worth it," they said. "Certainly if we have to go out and out any one to work for us we'll never get any work done. You see I have to get a revised edition of one of my books before college opens in the fall, and my brother here—but that doesn't interest you. The point is, will you take the job?"

Barbara did some figuring. There were nearly three months more before any college opened. Presumably she would have $210 or near that, in wages by the end of the summer. Since she had left college in search of work she had discovered that that was quite a large amount for any student to make between terms. So she accepted the proposition.

She wouldn't have told that she wasn't a washerwoman by profession if it hadn't been that somehow, it transpired that Mr. Fred Davenport, well-known psychologist, was going to Barbara's own college as head of the new psychology department. And Barbara had hoped to take some work in that department. So she couldn't keep her secret any longer.

"I'm a student myself," she told Mr. Fred Davenport. "I was hoping to take one of your courses myself next term. You may see me sitting before you in the classroom next autumn."

"I hope not," said Mr. Fred Davenport. "I hope that I will see you before you're pouring coffee at my breakfast table by that time. A professor's wife rarely doesn't go to finish college. She gets nothing but college for the rest of her life. Barbara, will you marry me?"

"And you know I was a washerwoman in disguise—that I was a student or something?"

"I wouldn't be much of a psychologist if I hadn't been able to discover that. But will you marry me?"

And Barbara said she would. (Copyright, 1925, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

KNEE LENGTH SKIRTS TO BE KEPT OUT OF AMERICA

CHICAGO.—By The Associated Press.—Paris may have knee length skirts, but not the American woman, who has too much regard for harmony of style and color. David Mosesohn, executive director of the Associated Press Industries of America, said, "The slim miss or young matron will continue to wear her skirts eight or ten inches from the ground, while the older women with the more mature figure will limit hers to not more than five inches," he said.

STATE DEPARTMENT COMPILING RULES ON PRESIDENT PRIMARY

*State Primary Election Regulations Not Applicable Says Secretary Zimmerman

MADISON, Wis.—The state primary election regulations do not apply to the presidential primary and national delegate elections, Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman was advised today by the attorney general's department, in answer to a series of questions on presidential and delegate elections.

The legal department advised that the secretary of state must give twenty-five days notice to county clerks of presidential primaries and delegates elections. It was further stated that county clerks are required to give twenty days notice to various precincts where the election will be held.

Notice of a judicial election, national delegate election and submission of a constitutional amendment may be combined in one communication to county clerks from the state department, it was held. However, the combined notices must be sent to county clerks long enough in advance to meet notification requirements of all the various subjects.

The opinion was written by Assistant Attorney General Bump. The state department is now compiling instructions and information in the election to be held next April.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for all colds, coughs, and croup. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat ticks, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a quart bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or sirup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

council for paving 15th street from State to Vine streets; 14th street from State to Vine streets; 20th street from Cass to Market streets; Rose street from Gould to Monitor streets; Rose street from St. James to Clinton streets; and St. Andrew street from Kane to Loomis streets. The city's share of the cost for this improvement is estimated as follows:

Asphalt $30,000.00

Brick 37,000.00

It is the intention of the council to pave these streets the coming year, the city share as above must be included in the budget or provided for by issuing bonds.

To the Common Council of the City of La Crosse.

The Board of Public Works respectfully asks your careful consideration of the various items following, which in our opinion are very essential in successfully carrying out the work of the various departments under our supervision:

That the sum of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000.00) be placed in the budget for the year 1924 for the purpose of purchasing equipment for three payment patrol outfits, each of which will cost approximately $700.00. The equipment desired for each outfit is as follows: One small asphalt kettle, one Dredge without starter or lighting system, concrete mixer, tools, etc.

If this equipment is provided it is the intention of the Board of Public Works to establish three districts, one on the north side and two on the south side, and to maintain a permanent patrol for the purpose of special repairs of road openings and defects in the paved highways, gutters, curbs and sidewalks throughout the spring, summer and fall months. It is the opinion of this board that no additional appropriation will be needed for special repairs of this nature, as the patrol work will eliminate the expenditures now made for street repairs.

A new truck for the Water Department. The truck now in use was purchased three years ago as a second hand car having been used by the Private Ice-Cream Corporation for some time before the city purchased same. This truck is practically worn out and the cost of repairs is constantly increasing to such an extent that it would be more economical to buy a new truck for this department. We estimate the cost of a new truck at $1,000.00.

The Sewer Department is in need of a new flushing and cleaning sewer. The Chief of the fire department has been very kind in furnishing hose for this department, however this hose was some which was practically unfit for duty in the fire department and cannot be used for certain purposes. The sewer department would therefore recommend that sufficient hose be provided for in the 1924 budget to purchase five hundred feet of new 2 1/2 inch hose at an approximate cost of $750.00.

At the July meeting of the Council a resolution was adopted instructing the Board of Public Works to improve the roads and bridges leading to the West Houses. A conservative estimate of the expense for doing this work is about Nine Thousand Dollars ($9,000.00). We have practically no funds in the department to have this work done this fall with the understanding that the expense of this improvement will be provided for in the budget of 1924.

The Board of Public Works again respectfully petitions your Honorable Body to purchase a power street sweeper.

With over fifty-five miles of paved streets we find it impossible to keep these streets in a clean and sanitary condition with the present method of cleaning. Should the council decide not to purchase a sweeper, provisions will have to be made to purchase four or five new sprinklers at an estimated cost of $1,000.00. In addition to this, more tools and equipment and labor will be required to take care of the streets.

To the Common Council of the City of La Crosse.

The Board of Public Works respectfully asks your careful consideration of the various items following, which in our opinion are very essential in successfully carrying out the work of the various departments under our supervision:

That the sum of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000.00) be placed in the budget for the year 1924 for the purpose of purchasing equipment for three payment patrol outfits, each of which will cost approximately $700.00. The equipment desired for each outfit is as follows: One small asphalt kettle, one Dredge without starter or lighting system, concrete mixer, tools, etc.

If this equipment is provided it is the intention of the Board of Public Works to establish three

Maidens Still Pine Away For Love

Physicist Says, Even the Flapper

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Even in this sophisticated age, maidens still pine away for love. Will Shakespeare's line about love that "like a speck of dust on the bed of a damsel" is just as applicable to the flapper of today as it was to the gentle, amorous dove of whom he wrote.

At least, so says Dr. Tom A. Williams, noted neurologist. The only difference seems to be that instead of getting a "broken heart" as in the old days, the modern girl gets a "nervous breakdown."

But the effect is just the same, Dr. Williams says. Unrequited love frequently results in serious physical as well as mental disorders. In fact, all of the young women brought to him for treatment, the underlying cause of their ill health is found to be some complicated love affair. Take a few samples:

Palsy Result of Love

"In one young woman," related Dr. Williams, "the physical attraction was very intense for a certain young man. Although she was fully aware of his unavailability as a possible husband, the struggle of motives caused great anxiety in a girl already overburdened by outside influences. The love situation not only excited her, but brought on a most dramatic case of palsy which it took six months to cure."

In another case attacks of apoplexy were traced to a conflict between love for her family and the desire for a freedom of choice where her own affections were concerned.

In another patient, more acquainted with persons of a feverish morality than the very narrow one in which she had been brought up, to a disfigurement for life as a result of hysterical attacks. In addition to this, a severe resentment dominated the girl's reactions with others. It took considerable time to give this patient a proper perspective and enable her to carry on with any comfort. In this patient a part also was played by the severe disappointment of a dawning affection, unreciprocated by a young man whose alert mind had captivated her slower and more modest intelligence.

"Situations of this kind, which are very frequent, are among the hardest to adjust in the early stages, but, as every one knows, time works wonders, especially if new impressions of like kind are furnished. When these are lacking the rehabilitation is often tedious."

Neurologist Finds Motives

"Dissatisfactions are often deeply hidden, and are scarcely explicit to the patient until she is led to delve into her own motives in honest fashion. There is often a mistaken attempt to conceal from herself what looks like disloyalty to the family or early traditions which so often conflict with changed circumstances in which the patient finds herself. The reconciliation can be effected by the patient, however, if she is given to understand the proper philosophy."

"Very often the traditional ethics has been misconceived in too literal a manner, and the conflict disappears upon a proper analysis. Sometimes, however, there is a real conflict between the true aspirations of the patient and the conservative motives of others between whom an antagonism has arisen. It is the duty of the physician to shed light on these situations. It is usually more difficult to deal with the friends than with the patient herself."

Heart Affairs Affect Health

Affairs of the heart, according to Dr. Williams, not only cause all sorts of disaffections of the nerves but frequently affect the health of the heart itself and that of the plebeian stomach and other organs.

Many a gastro-intestinal disorder should not in the gall-bladder or the appendix, but in an anxious mind. The same is true of functional cardiac disturbance, he said.

Losing one's appetite has long been recognized as a symptom of being in love. And perhaps dying of a "broken heart" isn't entirely a misnomer after all.

WEEKLY BOOK REVIEW

DEAN REVIEWS

JANET MARCH, by Floyd Dell (Knopf).

UNDER TOWNS, by Henry K. Marks (Harcourt).

THE VOICE ON THE MOUNTAIN, by Queen Marie (Knopf).

SILK, by Samuel Merwin (Houghton, Mifflin).

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK—"Why are great novels so terrible?" muses the heroine of Floyd Dell's new novel, "Janet March," on page 160.

It was just about the time that this reviewer reached that page that he began to realize that Floyd Dell was attempting to write a great novel. If all great novels are long and convoluted, if all long novels are great, "Janet March" is the goal of Dell in "Janet March."

Dell doesn't start out with the affair of his heroine. He begins several generations back, deals with grandfathers, grandmothers, uncles, aunts and cousins and precedes the story of Janet into the narrative with the romance of her father and mother.

When Janet has reached an age where she kisses, she, like the boys, drinks, gambles and begins to wonder what life is all about. He introduces the hero. However, the introduction to the hero also comes through several generations and Janet is rudely excluded from 200 pages of the narrative. While Janet, the hero, has an opportunity to kiss the girl, drink cocktails and wonder what life is all about.

Finally, they learn, as the reader has long since learned, that they are to meet, love, marry and be parents.

Complicated and repetitions, as "Janet March" is, has been deliberately done to give the author the opportunity to dig into the problems of the young generation.

He wanders as the specific of realism. This is a cry for help, he says, and he only wants the living when he is not dead. There is no hope for those of us who ended our lives and our consciences for reasons of our own and impulses.

As Galsworthy says in "Windows," "Follow per instincts."

"Janet March" no doubt, will be the subject of much controversy. In fact, it sets up many questions of behavior. Parents will probably prohibit their daughters reading it. And that attitude of the part of parents is the very thing Dell combats in the story.

A recent novel that sounds like the note of realism more deeply and clearly than "Janet March" is "Under Towns" by Henry K. Marks. "Under Towns" is a stark and grim as anything that ever came out of Russia. It is a story of poverty, degradation, suicide. Inevitably, tragedy looms in every line of it.

Marks is a master of dialogue. The reader receives the impression that he has shadowed his characters, taking down their conversation verbatim and putting to his typewriter to set it down as a court stenographer would.

Along with these novels of realism come several with the light breath of fantasy. "The Voice on the Mountain," by Queen Marie of Romania, is a thing of beautiful conception.

It is the romance of a mountain maid, Clara, whose name was blessed by a monarch who came to her for succor from malady. The beauty of her soul and the mirror of her face were the fruit of an immortal love for her. She was the daughter of his divinity. With his death she became an ordinary mortal.

In this book, one of the story I trust that all those who read may gain some significance of the story. Queen

QUEEN MARIE

Marie characterizes this as "A Story for Those Who Understand." That seems condescension to her readers. Such an attitude on the part of an author seems to be in poor grace, even though she be a queen.

"SILK" by Samuel Merwin, is an historical fantasy of ancient China. It tells of the adventures of Jan Po on a secret mission to the court of the virgin queen of Persia. It is a tale of high adventure, romance, intrigue. I have not completed reading "SILK," but the first few chapters reveal a setting and plot construction unlike anything in recent fiction.

Of recent fiction I like best:

A Lost Lady.

The Able McLaughlins.

The Hawk.

A Son at the Front (second half).

Fortune's Fool.

New Bodies for Old.

Since I have indicated that I like the second half of "A Son at the Front," I might add the first quarter of "Lummock" to the list. I have a notion that when I have finished reading "SILK" it will be among the three recent books I like best.

MRS. HAMBUECHEN HOSTESS AT TWO HANDSOME PARTIES

AS A PRETTY COMPLIMENT to Mrs. Adole Kerk of Galena, Ill., formerly of this city, who is visiting old friends in town, Mrs. Joseph Hambuechen was a charming hostess at her home, 124 South Eleventh street, on Tuesday and again Wednesday afternoon at half past seven. In token of All Saints' day, the rooma parlor of the spirit of Halloween was and were elaborately dressed in orange and black. Electric lighted pumpkins and black, electric lighted pumpkins, with spiky effect. In the sun parlor the beauty was enhanced by large baskets of chrysanthemums in shades of yellow, browns and dull rose, and small vases of yellow pumpkins.

One long table was laid on the dining room and smaller ones about the other rooms. The large one was centered by a cut glass basket of the pumpkins in yellow, orange and black tapers in cut sticks at either end. The rooms were further beautified by huge baskets of hollyhocks, which was also used in festoons on the walls.

Interpersed throughout the afternoon were delightful vocal numbers by Mrs. Grace McIlwain, Bart, accompanied on the piano by Miss Elizabeth George. Mr. Joseph Hoppa also gave violin numbers, with Mr. Johnston accompanying. Mrs. Arthur Doherty was in charge of the rooms on Tuesday, and on Wednesday Mrs. Reinhardt Humboldt served in that capacity, assisted by the Misses Lucille Duxbury, Guvior Sklar and Miss Susan Campbell. Twenty-eight guests were entertained each day.

THE DATE of the annual Charity ball to be given by the Woman's auxiliary of the La Crosse hospital, has been set for Friday, November 23. Mrs. E. M. Wing is to be the general chairman in charge of the affair.

THE TUESDAY card club will meet on Monday of next week in the usual meeting place and will be entertained by Mrs. Paul M. Pamperin, 125 Seventeenth place.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S society of the Immanuel Lutheran church, corner of Avon and St. Paul streets, will hold its regular monthly meeting Friday evening, November 2. A cordial invitation is extended to all by the Misses Margaret Baum, Viola Schmidt and Mr. John Mank.

MISS IDA OMBASCHER entertained a group of girls at a Halloween party at her home last evening. The guests were given to Miss Doris Ahrens, Miss Frieda Berthow and Miss Marie Ombascher. The room was prettily decorated for the occasion and the evening was passed with games, music and fortune telling. A few "black" lunches were served. Those present were the Misses Marie and

Sister Mary's KITCHEN

STRING BEANS

String or wax beans are an economical dish to that there is so little waste in the preparation of them. A pound of stringless "string" beans will serve six persons.

This recipe for beans with bacon is perhaps a bit different. The dish is very nourishing and should accompany a light meat course.

Beans With Bacon

One pound beans, 3 slices bacon. Snap beans and wash. Cut bacon in small pieces. Put in the sauce pan in which the beans are to be cooked. Fry out without crisping. Cut beans in short lengths and put into sauce pan with bacon fat and bacon. Do not add water. Cover closely and let simmer over a slow fire for 1 1/2 hours. Shake the pan to prevent sticking. Add boiling water to cover and simmer for an hour. Replenish water as necessary, but when beans are nearly done let water cook away. Season with pepper and serve on the dinner plates with meat and potatoes.

Beans are good cooked in combination with other vegetables.

Combination Beans

One pound string beans, 2 tomatoes, 1 onion, 2 green peppers, 2 stalks celery, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons olive oil, 1 spoon pepper, 2 tablespoons oil.

Wash and snap beans. Put in long, narrow strips. Put in sauce pan of boiling water. Put slightly and boil 45 minutes. Drain. Melt butter and add beans. Cover and simmer until tender. Shake the pan to prevent burning. Beat the egg, add cheese, salt, pepper and nutmeg. Add lemon juice to beans. Pour over egg mixture and stir over the fire till very hot. This is a good luncheon dish for a one-dish meal.

ANCIENT CHURCH CELEBRATES ST. CROIX

St. Croix, the oldest and most magnificent cathedral, the edifice at La Crosse, has just observed the eight hundredth anniversary of its founding, with elaborate ceremonies. Delegates were present from churches in England, Germany, Norway, Denmark and Finland.

The central altar of the cathedral was consecrated in 1123.

Harding Memorial Campaign to Be Led By Mrs. Harding and Brig. General Sawyer

By CAROLYN VANCE
(Special correspondent.)
Copyright, 1923

WASHINGTON—Florence Kling Harding's life work is not finished. She is coming to Washington to aid in the Harding Memorial campaign. That will be the crowning achievement in a life devoted unreservedly to the late president. First to put her faith in this man of destiny, she will have to have faith and that of the millions of others who believed in him perpetuated in a fitting shrine and mausoleum.

"It would not be fitting to have Mrs. Harding lead in this campaign," Brig. General Sawyer said today. He has been relieved from all other duties in order that he might devote himself entirely to the campaign. "But of course she shall be consulted in all of the plans made by the executive committee."

Just as in the life time of President Harding the "Duchess," as he affectionately called Mrs. Harding, was always "consulted" in all political moves of importance, so it is that her advice and counsel will be sought in this tremendous campaign to raise three million dollars for a memorial.

"Wonder Woman"

A "wonder woman" has been the verdict of all who have come in contact with Mrs. Harding since the death of the president. It was she who conceived the idea of having all of the funeral train darkened at night as it crossed the continent, with the exception of the coach that carried the body which was brilliantly lighted. The thousands who lined the tracks, some waiting all night to see the funeral train pass were spiritually uplifted by the sight. It was during the hottest season and in the coaches where the shades were pulled down it was stifling, but Mrs. Harding insisted upon it. She also insisted that the train be slowed down to ten miles an hour while passing through even the smallest hamlet in order that the crowds might be fully satisfied, even though the train was constantly losing time. She planned the cortege which bore the body from the union station to the white house and that has been said by many to have been the most impressive procession they ever witnessed in their lives.

All that is left now to be done is the memorial, and Mrs. Harding will see to that too. She is coming to Washington soon after the memorial services in Marion, November 2.

Campaign Opens Monday

Offices from which the campaign will be conducted will be opened Monday. They are really magnificent and impressive. They are in a building occupied by a bank and the main office is in a huge place with all of the dusk and hush of a cathedral. The room is at least forty feet high with paneled walls and pillars and a huge stained glass window. High upon a wall facing the doorway is a picture of Mr. Harding flanked on both sides by beautiful American flags of silk and gold fringe.

The late president's good friend, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen is president of the board of trustees for the memorial with President Coolidge as the honorary president.

Prominent Board Members

Members of the cabinet and other intimate friends are on the board including C. E. Sawyer, D. H. Crisinger, Charles G. Dawes, E. B. McClean, John Barton Payne, Fred Upham, John Barton Hammond, George S. Christian, Jr., Hoke Donihue, J. F. Peeders.

It is proposed to erect at Marion a mausoleum located within a park which will be maintained in perpetuity by an endowment fund. The famous front porch will be preserved and the Harding home which was the nucleus of hundreds of thousands of Americans who came to pay their respects, and who listened there to the speeches of the late president. It is contemplated that a fireproof building shall be erected as a shrine, adjoining the Harding home, containing a library where the president's writings and speeches can be preserved, with mementoes and other objects of interest associated with his life.

"In erecting this memorial," it was said in a statement issued today by the committee, "to the man who gave his life for his country and died at the height of his career, we are not only honoring a great American, but we are also honoring the true type of American, we feel that the spirit of this tribute should be universal and widespread. The desire of the committee is that all of his countrymen shall have a share, ever so small in providing this monument to his memory."

Basket Ball and Sewing Classes Attract Greatest Number of Girls at Present

Great enthusiasm is being shown at the "Y" over the Tuesday night classes, which are being organized. Enrollment took place last Tuesday and classes are scheduled to begin next week.

Basket ball seems to have attracted the greatest number of girls, with the Chalm school and the classes in the making of Christmas gifts running a close second for head place in popularity. It was decided to concentrate at present on the Chalm school, basket ball and the Christmas gift classes. Story Telling and some of the other things will be taken up after the holidays.

The class in Christmas gifts has three divisions, sewing, basket weaving, and knitting. Miss Emma Olsen had a very interesting display at her class Tuesday night of bread boards, decorated candle sticks, salt and pepper shakers, and various other things which the girls can make. Mrs. J. R. Davis will teach basketry.

The "Y" classes are to be popular because there are few teachers in the city. These classes start at seven o'clock. Tuesday evenings, the other classes begin at seven thirty.

The Employed Girls group is to have a banquet at the Y. W. C. A. Saturday night at six fifteen.

All girls who are interested in joining the Tuesday night classes at the "Y" should join next week when the real work begins. All of the classes excepting the "Y" class are free to the "Y" girls.

Household Suggestions

SICK ROOM

Never use a broom in a sick room. Go over the floor with a dust mop, the ends wrung dry out of boiling water. Wash the mop out as fast as it grows soiled. If the patient is too ill for this, go over the floor with a damp cloth every other morning.

EARACHE

A few drops of alcohol on a hot cloth, so placed that the alcohol fumes enter the ear, will often relieve an earache.

GLUE ON FURNITURE

Vinegar will remove the bits of old glue that sometimes adhere to furniture.

TAPESTRIES

If you have any tapestries on the wall, whether they are silk or wool, keep them thoroughly brushed and cleaned to remove the dust and to ward off moths.

When painting wicker furniture, remember that it is much easier if you use a thin paint.

ECONOMIC EXPERT TALKS ON BUSINESS OUTLOOK FOR 1924

New York Businessman Speaker at Noon Luncheon of Chamber

DISCUSSES OUTLOOK FOR DIRT FARMERS OF NATION

Trend of Business, Although Slow, is Upward

Mr. Ray Vance, in his talk at the noon luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, predicted a general slow upward trend in business for the next six or nine months. His topic was "The Fundamental Business Situation in This Country Today and Its Bearing on Business Prospects in 1924."

Mr. Vance declared that he did not believe that future business conditions could be judged by comparison with other years. Neither did he believe that every period of depression must be followed by a period of prosperity, lasting a certain number of years and then over. Although these two theories are used by economic writers, Mr. Vance stated that other factors which always enter must be considered. All human beings in general have a big effect on future business and predictions cannot be based solely on history. There are many symptoms, such as useless speculation which always play an important part in bringing about various problems in the general trend of business.

Before Mr. Vance became an economic expert, he was a real dirt farmer and had a chance to study many of the problems of the farmer. His home and business are in New York and he is now on his way back home after a trip to the western coast and Canada. On this trip, he talked with farmers of all sections of the United States and Canada and also stopped at his old home in Iowa. As a result, he has a thorough knowledge of farm problems and the outlook for the farmer in 1924.

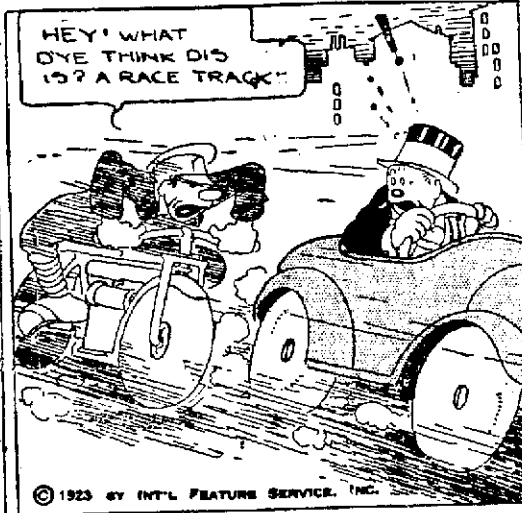

Problem of Farmer
"The average farmer reached his worst conditions in 1921," according to Mr. Vance. "He showed a great improvement in 1922 and a still greater improvement, with a possible exception in wheat in 1923." For the next six or nine months, he will not have much greater purchasing power although prices may be high.

All talks on business include the outlook on the European situation and Mr. Vance declared he would not omit it. Mr. Vance sees no immediate danger in the situation and explained that recently a number of privacies have come up, which prior to 1914 would have easily started a war. These are being met by an understanding of interest in world peace. While some who have visited in Europe contend that the country is overthrown by a general desire for conflict and the outlook is not so bright, Mr. Vance explained that while the situation was not so pleasing to look at, nothing better could be expected since most of the evils had been taken out and the country was now in a state of convalescence. In discussing the Ruhr, Mr. Vance pointed out that there would be no production for the next thirty or sixty days. He could see no great danger in the near future arising from this condition.

BRINGING UP FATHER

"PEP" ASSEMBLY IS HELD AT HIGH TO RENEW SPIRIT

Students Asked to Get Behind the Best Football Team
School Has Had for Years

What Principal Wiley terms the "pep" assembly, held in the auditorium for a long while was the "pep" assembly held at the High school on Wednesday. The speakers were William "Buck" Birnbaum, Carl "Zippke" Zorh and Superintendent McCormick. Birnbaum and Superintendent McCormick spoke in the first assembly and Zorh and Superintendent McCormick in the second.

The talks given by "Buck" and "Zippke" were based on the trip to Superior taken last week by the football team. They both told of their experiences in Superior and of the great educational value it was to them. They said that Coach Foley pointed out and explained to them the sights in Duluth, the feeding of minerals on large lake boats and many other interesting things. The boys brought out in particular the difference in school spirit between Superior high and La Crosse high. They said that the spirit in Superior was wonderful and here it was very poor. They showed the students what the lack of the football team by them meant and urged the students to show better spirit.

Principal Wiley then read a letter from the principal of the Superior high school, asking for a game of basketball between the two schools. To this letter the principal also stated that La Crosse had a wonderful group of boys representing the school, both as to their playing and their moral standpoint.

Superintendent McCormick then spoke of the homecoming at Madison, and the wonderful wholesome spirit between the two schools Wisconsin and Minnesota. This thing that he said that impressed him most was the fact that thirty-five thousand people sat in one group watching twenty-two men play a clean fighting game of football. He said of the wonderful spirit shown by the student body of both schools, and stated that La Crosse High School showed more spirit toward their teams. He stated that he remembered the time when La Crosse High did have some school spirit, but he believed it had faded down. He asked the students to build up the old fighting spirit again and to boast what he considers the best football team ever produced by La Crosse High school.

Homecoming Event
Mr. Wiley then spoke of the Edgerton game which is to be the homecoming event of the year. There will be a football parade and a real school celebration. He also said that he and business manager Smith were making arrangements for some strong eleven for a Thanksgiving game here. He has sent letters to eight strong teams asking them for their respective schools.

dules and scores to date, and asking them to consider a game with La Crosse.

"Kenney" Robins, diminutive cheer leader, after telling the students exactly what he thought of their school spirit, led them in a real locomotive, and all the students assured him they would be at the mass meeting, which is to be held Friday at 8:30 in the High school auditorium.

SHIPS GOING EAST LOSE WEIGHT, SAYS PROFESSOR

LONDON.—By the Associated Press.—In the course of experiments to discover the origin of mountains, Prof. W. G. Ruffield, who occupies the chair of physics at Reading university, has found that ships traveling east are lighter than when going west, because everything traveling east is going in the same direction as the earth is revolving and the centrifugal force is greater than when it is traveling west. Therefore, he says, a 50,000-ton Atlantic liner would weigh approximately five tons less on its arrival in England than when traveling to America.

BIG WHITE SLAVE RING DISCOVERED BY BELGIAN POLICE

More than Five Hundred Girls
Reported to Have been Shipped to United States

BRUSSELS.—A discovery of a vast white slave enterprise through which more than 500 girls are reported to have been shipped to the United States has led to the increased vigilance of the American immigration authorities whose representatives in Antwerp, the Belgian police say, have definite proofs of the affair. The principle in the plot, named Brown, was president of a Girls' Protection society in Berlin, who sent the girls via Antwerp, Hamburg, and Rotterdam to the United States, where they fell into the hands of his confederates.

When the traffic was discovered as the result of numerous complaints Brown fled from Germany. The Belgian authorities regard as curious the fact that they have received no request from Brown's arrest from the German authorities. They suggest that this is perhaps due to the fact that during the war Brown was reported to have been one of the most active members of the German espionage system and the Germans are afraid that if he were arrested in Belgium he would make startling revelations regarding the war-time activities of German spies.

How to make Good Coffee
NUMBER VII

Americans who have lived in Paris often prefer coffee made the French way. The Parisian has his coffee made very strong and served black, together with a pitcher of hot milk. Then he blends it either half coffee and half milk or as suits his individual taste. The French maintain that no other method brings out the delicacy and fragrance of coffee so perfectly.

No matter how you prefer your coffee served, you will admit that Yuban surpasses in depth of flavor any coffee that you have known. All the coffees of the world were reviewed that this particular blend might give you just this full-bodied richness. Its peculiar mellowness is only matched by the tantalizing aroma that is such delight to the true coffee lover.

CONFESSION LEADS POLICE TO SOURCE OF BOGUS CURRENCY

Fifty Thousand Dollars Worth of Counterfeit Money Distributed Throughout Nation

CHICAGO, Ill.—A confession alleged by a former service agent has led to the source of the counterfeit money distributed throughout the nation. The source, a man named "John Doe," was identified by the police after a long investigation. The counterfeit money, worth fifty thousand dollars, was found to be distributed in various parts of the country, including Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Milwaukee, Omaha, Denver and other cities.

Search for the makers of the counterfeit notes began last June, according to the treasury department operatives, who said three kinds of spurious $20 notes of the federal reserve issue bearing series numbers A207, A208 and B208, appeared at that time in Chicago, Milwaukee, Rock Island and Moline.

At the time of the Dempsey-Pirpo fight the spurious notes became common in New York, then again in Chicago, and shortly afterward the trail of the distributors moved west to Colorado, operatives said.

On October 4, Bronson's confession states, according to detectives, the quartet came back to Chicago and started on a second trip to the west by automobile. They carried with them a suitcase containing $50,000 worth of the paper and had already spread an equal amount, he is alleged to have said.

At Kansas City they paused to exchange several thousand dollars worth of the bogus notes for real currency, and there Bronson said he met a cabaret dancer, by whom he confided with and later quarrelled with, treasury detectives said in his confession states.

The girl showed Bronson some clippings from a Kansas City paper relative to the spurious money, and frightened, he took all he had left and burned it along the road near El Dorado, Kansas, later returning to Chicago, according to Bronson's alleged statement.

CALIFORNIA SKULL NOT RECOGNIZED AS OF PREHISTORIC AGE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Smithsonian Institution is not yet prepared to accept the theory of J. P. Harrington, one of its scientific investigators, that he has found near Santa Barbara, Cal., the bones of a pre-neanderthal man.

Dr. Jesse E. Fawcett, director of the bureau of ethnology of the institution, said he regarded it as extremely improbable that a pre-neanderthal man had left traces in California, although he did not care to cast discredit on Mr. Harrington's claim until its authenticity had been passed on by competent experts.

Discovery of a skull of abnormal thickness, it is pointed out here, is not conclusive proof of antiquity unless the excavation is conducted under scientific lines. Such a skull might be turned up in almost any cemetery, experts say, and especially in an Asiatic or Indian cemetery.

If Mr. Harrington's find should prove to be prehistoric, it would leave a gap of many thousand years until the next evidence of human life on the American continent.

RULES CHIROPRACTORS CAN'T MAKE GUGENIC EXAMS

MADISON, Wis.—State laws regarding eugenic examinations as a prerequisite to obtaining a marriage license do not authorize chiropractors to make such examinations. District Attorney S. G. Dunneville of Janesville was advised in an opinion Thursday by the attorney general's department.

The ruling declared that osteopaths may make such examinations but that chiropractors cannot.

In holding thus, the opinion declared that the state law requiring such examinations by physicians does not include chiropractors under the title of physician.

PLANS FUNERAL, THEN DIES

AUSTIN, Minn.—The death here of Mrs. Mary E. Nancarrow, who has for many years been living the life of a recluse, brought to light the fact that she had made all arrangements for her funeral long before her death. She asked there be no religious service, but that her body be taken to Seattle by County Attorney Baudier, named as executor, to be buried in side her son and his family who were buried to death in the Minnesota forest fire of 1915. As Mr. Baudier is busy with cases, he cannot take the body west until early in November, he says.

NORMAL SCHOOL TO REGISTER ON NOVEMBER 12TH

There will be an enrollment in all departments of the La Crosse Normal school on Nov. 12, the opening of the second quarter. All those that are planning on entering the physical education department of the school are urged to enroll at that time.

Because of the inability to secure more faculty members it will be impossible to handle a freshman class in this course at the mid-year. Students who enter the second quarter will commence regular floor work with the beginning freshmen, who have until this time been doing athletic work out of doors. People entering at this time will be able to complete a year's work by attending the summer session of school.

President F. A. Cotton stated that it would be an easy matter for students entering the second quarter to finish their work during the summer session.

BANDITS KILL AGED MAN; ROB WIDOW OF $15,000

CHICAGO, Ill.—By the Associated Press.—Fifty-nine years of married life and the accumulation of $15,000 in securities, which they kept hidden in a cupboard in their little store, ended this week for Samuel Adams, 57, and his wife, 82, as the result of a bandit raid. The aged man was shot through the body and his tottering wife blindly fired several shots from an old revolver. The police are holding two suspects.

The grief-stricken widow has identified Samuel Taylor, 24, and his brother, Paul, 18, as the holdup men. The widow was bruised when seized by the throat by one of the bandits when she went to her husband's assistance.

LINCOLN COUNTY CITIES HAVE HEAVIER TAX LOAD

MERRILL, Wis.—The annual report of the assessors for 1923 has reached here from Assessor of Income Alex McGee, Rhinelander. The report shows that while the aggregate value of Merrill's total taxable property is $4,04 per cent of Lincoln county's total, it pays $9.84 per cent of the taxes. Tomahawk's total property represents $7.3 of the county's total, but its ratio of assessment is 13.12. The total value of the county's real and personal property is $32,357,764.

CORN PAYS FOR FARM

ORAL, S. D.—Colman Hughes, who has a farm a few miles from here, this season planted 675 acres to corn, from which he will harvest, it is estimated, 25,000 bushels. Of the crop 200 acres will be harvested by a drove of hogs which are to be turned in to feed. Estimating the cost of his land at $20 an acre, which he considers high, Mr. Hughes says the crop will pay for the farm.

MINT VENDING COMPANY GETS AN INJUNCTION

La Crosse Concern Obtains Another Writ in Court, this Time in Madison

A temporary injunction against the Madison police department and Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy restraining police in their campaign against slot machines in Madison, was granted to the D. E. Coffman Company of La Crosse, by Judge A. C. Hoppmann. Similar test cases have been started in La Crosse and Winona.

Harry Southoff, attorney for the slot machine company, entered into a special agreement with the district attorney by which the case will be heard as a test to determine whether or not these machines which have already been declared legitimate by other states, are legitimate under Wisconsin statutes.

Securing of the injunction against police followed the arrest of Tony Bruno, Italian pool hall owner, on a charge of operating gambling devices. Bruno had in his possession two of the machines owned by the Coffman Company. He is being held under a plea of not guilty.

Machines owned by the company and which are rented to pool halls, restaurants and proprietors of other places of business, are in use in a number of places in Madison. If this machine is found to be illegitimate under Wisconsin law it will mean a loss of several thousand dollars to the La Crosse firm, it is said.

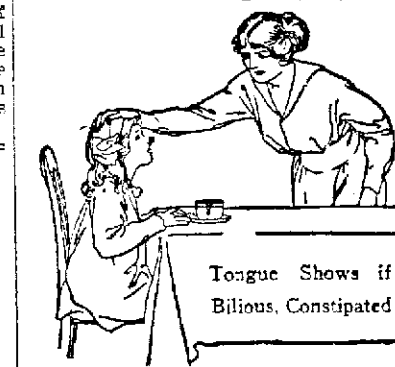

A special representative of the slot machine company was in Madison and intimated that in case Judge Hoppmann's decision is unfavorable the company will carry the case to the supreme court.

REORGANIZATION OF BADGER STATE FAIR UNDER DISCUSSION

MADISON, Wis.—No proposal for reorganization of the state fair into a private corporation has been formally put before the directors of Milwaukee organizations. John D. Jones, Jr., state commissioner of agriculture, said here Thursday. Commissioner Jones stated that at a conference this week he declared that unless Milwaukee interests lend more support to the state fair, it may become necessary for a private corporation to be formed.

Private control of the state fair of Texas at Dallas has proved to be highly successful. Commissioner Jones said. Dallas business men have taken over the fair there and made it into one of the largest in the country, it is said.

Whether or not plans for organizing a fair corporation are being formulated by Milwaukee organizations is not known here.

LLOYD GEORGE AT END OF 6,000-MILE TOUR OF CONTINENT

Final Addresses to be Made in New York City; Sails on Saturday

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—David Lloyd George, Britain's war premier, has ended his 6,000 mile tour of the United States and Canada. He arrived in New York Wednesday night, went to the home of John W. Davis, former ambassador to the court of St. James in Locust Valley, L. I., and made final preparations for his two final addresses in this country. The first will be delivered at the Lotus club Thursday night and the second at the Metropolitan Opera house Friday night.

Mr. Lloyd George, although free from any public engagements until night, will not rest. He planned to pass the morning attending to personal affairs, and later, if he could spare the time, to visit the grave of Theodore Roosevelt, at Oyster Bay, and call on Mrs. Roosevelt at her home there. He expressed his desire to make this trip on the way from Scranton, Pa., but said he could not decide definitely whether he would be able to go.

Combing Won't Rid Hair Of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arsan; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arsan at any drug store and it never fails to do the work.

SENATOR COUZENS RIDICULES IDEA OF FORD AS PRESIDENT

Michigan Man also Attacks
Ford's Motives in Muscle
Shoals Negotiations

DETROIT, Mich.—Ridiculing the candidacy of Henry Ford for the presidency and questioning the motives of the Detroit manufacturer in his negotiations for Muscle Shoals, United States Senator James Couzens answered a recent criticism by Ford on the senator's announced stand on five per cent beer in a speech Wednesday night at a dinner of the Detroit Republican club. The two men worked together in the pioneer days of Ford's manufacturing business and until a few years ago were business associates.

Although he characterized Mr. Ford as a "kindly, lovable" man and declaring that he "loved him as much as it is possible for one man to love another," the senator, referring to Ford for president, declared "it is ridiculous. How can a man over sixty, who has done nothing except make motors, who has no training or experience in government, aspire to such an office?" "Ford wants to be president," Senator Couzens said. "His failure to withdraw his name from the Nebraska primary proves that."

MOVIES

"HER REPUTATION"
For the first time on record a realistic picture of the inside workings of the newspaper game has been filmed.

"Her Reputation," by Thomas H. Ince, opened at the Rivoli theatre yesterday. Here is a picture which can be viewed by anyone connected with the newspaper profession without fear of seeing some incontinuity, produced by a director who has never seen the inside of a newspaper office.

May McAvoy gives a remarkable portrayal of a young girl who runs away from home on her wedding day, the innocent victim of a newspaper scandal. Miss McAvoy's Spanish dances are exceptionally fine while the opening scenes on an old Spanish plantation of New Orleans have been depicted with unusual charm.

Lloyd Hughes plays the part of the cynical son of the newspaper editor who starts investigations concerning the girl.

"WHY WORRY?"
The possibilities for farce comedy in a South American revolution have been seized by Harold Lloyd and exploited in "Why Worry?" his new comedy showing this week at the Majestic theatre. It is pure farce plus the Lloyd personality and production atmosphere.

The picture introduces Johnny Robinson as Lloyd's leading woman. A figure in the case that is new to the screen is John Aasen, the La Crosse plant, declared to be the biggest man in the world. He is 8 feet, 6 inches tall and weighs 460 pounds—without his shoes.

STRAND TODAY
One of the best known writers of today is responsible for the story of "The Super-Sex" at the Strand theatre today. Frank R. Adams is the author whose story attracted wide notice because of its freshness and charm and humaneness.

The cast includes Robert Gordon, Charlotte Pierce, Tully Marshall, Gertrude Claire and Lydia Knott. The story is that of a small-town boy of 20 whose trials and tribulations are the result of the self-consciousness of youth. In fact, the picture is a comedy of youth.

CASINO TODAY
The photoplay has more effect upon the styles of the day than most persons think. While it is known that many women attend society productions to get suggestions for new frocks and gowns, the fact that designers get ideas from the roque of other days as shown in pictures is not so well established. In the past few seasons the stage and screen has given stories dealing with the period of 1860-1875 with women characters wearing the full skirts, draperies, panels and berthes of these days. As a result these garbings are appearing on the gowns in vogue today. The truth of this is evidenced in Chauncey Olcott, who brings his "Paddy Whack" to the La Crosse Theatre Friday evening of this week.

A scene from "Pioneer Trails," featuring Alice Calhoun and Cullen Landis, at the Casino all this week.

"Pioneer Trails," at the Casino theatre today. In this David Smith production some of the "finest scenes" of 1870 are worn by Alice Calhoun. In these gowns the present side panels, the bertha, silhouette and other features of late Paris creations are discovered.

OVER HALF MILLION IN STATE INSURANCE POLICIES IN FORCE

Five Hundred Policies Written by State Department Reports State Commissioner

MADISON, Wis.—Over $500,000 of state life insurance policies are in force at the present time, according to a statement Thursday by W. Stanley Smith, state commissioner of insurance. The number of policies in force is over 500.

Increased interest is being shown in the state insurance plan, Commissioner Smith declared. Numbers of inquiries and applications for insurance are coming into the department. Mr. Smith proposes to carry on an extensive campaign on the life fund during the next few months.

First policies under the life fund are now coming due, according to Mr. Smith, and show successful operation of the fund to the benefit of policy holders.

The life fund is operated on a cost basis. It is claimed that premiums are lower than commercial firms because of this reason. Each life policy at present is limited to $1,000 although Commissioner Smith stated that as soon as the number of policy holders reached 1,000 the maximum policy will be increased to $2,000 under terms of the insurance act. Numerous requests are received for policies larger than $1,000, he said.

The allowance was made in a court order upon application of Mr. Lower's widow.

Before his death, Mr. Lower requested that Mr. Huber preach his funeral sermon and that the pastor be remunerated for his service.

the United States for Yokohama after a visit to the imperial palace, where the empress expressed her thanks to them for their work in behalf of Jamany places in honor of the visit of the American ambassador. A depar-tation of squatters, who lost their

MR. F. L. KOPPELBERGER, Mgr.

La Crosse Theatre,

La Crosse, Wis.

DEAR SIR:

For years Miss Robson and the writer have received thousands of letters from her patrons, the press and the managers throughout the United States and Canada, urging the production of "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary". It has been our practice to present

Miss Robson in a new play each season but the requests for her world famous vehicle, were so numerous that we decided it was no more than fair to the public, press and managers to comply with their wishes. Therefore, we've done so and sincerely hope that Miss Robson in

"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" will bring pleasure to thousands.

Miss Robson's version of this great comedy is so far superior to any other that it stands in a class by itself. Appreciating this and Miss Robson's skill in the title role, I have given the present production an elaborate setting sparing no expense to provide the best stage settings that money could buy. I have surrounded her with an exceptionally well balanced cast;

not a so-called road company but a list of actresses suitable for a New York presentation.

In the treatment of the play, the spirit of youth has been injected so that "The Rejuvenation of Aunt

Mary" will appeal to the boy and girl of today as well as to older people. A number of songs, written especially for this production, have been introduced and a quartet of splendid male voices further added to the attractiveness of this feature of the performance.

Miss Robson's rendition of the title role stands as a stage classic and, in its present happy surroundings, has an appeal unexcelled by any other offering of the present season. In fact, after the opening performance, I was requested to shorten her tour and bring the company into New York. But both Miss Robson and myself intend to keep faith with her public and managers and, as a result, the New York opening has been deferred until such time as we have fulfilled existing contracts.

Let me say in conclusion that with Miss Robson

in a comedy that ranks with anything now in New York,

I feel that we have one of the best pieces of property

we have ever handled and that we are well within our rights in hoping for the public's enthusiastic support.

Miss Robson will appear at the La Crosse Theatre

Wednesday, November 7th.

Sincerely yours,

AUGUSTUS PITOU.
